

Trust me when I say that this issue IS very important to the people of America. It is a scary thought to think that the President is talking about "bringing democracy" to other countries, when our own freedom is being poluted by media consolidation.

In a society where information is absolutely neccesary to real freedom, it is incredibly frightening that so many news outlets are controlled by so few.